Grodno Captured by Germans After Furious Fighting and Enormous Losses.

ALLIES SURROUND IMPORTANT PART OF TURK ARMY AFTER HARD FIGHTING

Great Artillery Duel Continues in West Zone and "Big Push" is Now Believed At Hand—Russ Stubbornly Resist Every Move of Teutonic Allies.

By Associated Press.

London, September 3.—The army of Field Marshal von Hindenburg has captured Grodno, the last of the strong Russian fortresses to hold out, Berlin officially announced today.

London, September 3.—The surrounding of an important part of the Turkish forces on the Gallipoli peninsula, by troops of the entente allies, is reported in advices from Athens. The surrender of the surrounded troops is said to be imminent.

The evacuation of Grodno is under way. Petrograd admits officially that Russian forces are being withdrawn from the right bank of the Niemen. The loss by the Russians of the last of their strong fortresses caused no surprise here.

Along the Galician border, General Ivanoff continues to retire, inflicting heavy losses on the Austro-German forces by vigorous counter attacks.

In the center and extreme north the Germans are making little progress.

The great artillery duel continues along a large part of the western front held by the French. The ultimate purpose of this is still obscure.

The British steamer Roumanie, of 1,600 tons, has been sunk, presumably by a German torpedo. Her crew was saved.

London, September 3.—The German statement said: "Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army conquered Grodno after rapidly forcing a passage of the Niemen and fighting the Russians in the streets of the city. German cavalry advanced to the northwest and west of Vilna."

"The Russians attempted to oppose our advance, but failed, suffering extraordinarily large losses."

Berlin also announced today that the German troops which are advancing on the important Russian port of Riga, on the Baltic, have made a further consequential gain.

Official announcement was made here today that they had captured a position about forty miles from Riga.

SHOOTING BANDITS ON SIGHT

By Associated Press.

Brownsville, Texas, September 3.—Three of the Mexican bandits operating north of Brownsville were killed last night by county officers, 14 miles north of Brownsville, according to information received here today.

In addition, it is said, a Mexican woman deserted by her husband when the outlaws appeared at their home last night, was accidentally killed by United States soldiers when she approached them in the darkness in search of protection.

Quick retribution is being meted out to the band which, early yesterday, burned a trestle north of Brownsville and murdered two Americans, Earl Donaldson and J. S. Smith.

The Americans were tortured before being killed by a volley of bullets.

SUB. ATTACKS LUMBER SHIP

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, September 3.—The British ship William T. Lewis, owned in San Francisco, was shot at and it is thought sunk, with a cargo of lumber, today, off Queenstown, by a submarine, according to a message received here.

1870 PERISH WHEN VESSEL STRIKES MINE

By Associated Press.

Berlin, September 3.—Telegrams from Sofia state that off the entrance to the Dardanelles, a British transport struck a mine and sank with 320 officers, 1,250 soldiers and 300 of the crew, all of whom were drowned. Six hundred bodies were recovered.

The British government officially announced, on August 17, that the British transport Royal Edward had been sunk on August 11 in the Aegean sea, by a German submarine.

It is uncertain whether today's message refers to the sinking of the Royal Edward or to the loss of another transport.

BIG LOAN OBTAINED BY BRITAIN

By Associated Press.

New York, September 3.—It was reported in Wall Street today that Great Britain had obtained a preliminary credit loan in New York City to tide over pressing obligations and stem the downward trend of sterling exchange rates until a mammoth credit loan can be floated here.

In the gossip of the Street, the amount of this loan was reckoned at from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Foreign money values soared from low to high and back again in frantic fashion today. At the opening values shot swiftly upward, ranging from $4.62, to $4.75, and then settled to $4.65, a gain of two and one half cents over yesterday's highest quotation.

BOTH SIDES MUST BE WILLING BEFORE U. S. WILL SEEK TO END WAR

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 3.—The United States will make no further effort to bring about peace in Europe, until it has received information that its good offices will be welcomed by both sides in the conflict.

This was stated authoritatively here today, in official discussions of the message from Pope Benedict delivered to President Wilson yesterday by Cardinal Gibbons.

From the fact that the Vatican is in close touch with Austria, the intimation is that the Germanic powers would be willing to discuss peace at this time.

It was stated that similar word will have to be received from Great Britain and her allies, before the President will make any further move.

London, September 3.—In high circles here, it is learned authoritatively that recent rumors of peace have no foundation in any step taken by the British government, or in any statement issued here from authoritative sources.

ALLEGED MURDERESS SUPERVISES FUNERAL

Woman Out on $10,000 Bond for Being Party Who Caused Husband's Murder, Calmly Takes Charge of Odsequies Over Remains of Husband—Her Attorney to Take Look for Will Disposing of $500,000 Estate.

By Associated Press.

Providence, R. I., September 3.—Although accused of having incited the murder of her husband, Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, one of the wealthiest physicians in the state, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany Blair-Mohr, released on bond of $10,000, has full charge of the funeral today of her husband, from whom she had been separated for several months.

Mrs. Mohr sent out invitations to the services and asked the Rev. Francis J. Bassett to read the Episcopal funeral ritual in the parlor of Dr. Mohr's house, in an exclusive residential section of the city.

Only intimate friends of the family were asked to attend the services.

Mrs. Mohr arranged that her two children attend the funeral, and Charles Manning Mohr, of New York, son of the physician by a former marriage, also was here.

A large detail of police today searched a brook near the scene of the murder, where the revolvers with which Dr. Mohr was killed, and Miss Emily Burger, his secretary and companion on Tuesday night's auto ride, was wounded, were thrown.

Arthur Cushing, Mrs. Mohr's attorney, said today he would begin a search for the doctor's will as soon as the funeral is over.

Friends of the doctor said that his property would be worth $500,000. They estimated his income between $50,000 and $75,000 a year.

CARRY CASE TO SUPREME COURT

By Associated Press.

Columbus, September 3.—The controversy over the new civil service law reached the Supreme Court today.

Through former attorney General Hogan, as legal representative for discharged civil service employees, the plaintiffs filed a petition with the high court, asking that the Franklin County Court of Appeals be directed to certify the case up, involving the question of the validity of the act.

MAY ARBITRATE DAMAGES, BUT NOT PRINCIPLE

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 3.—The American position toward a method of fixing reparation for lives and property lost in German submarine operations, has not been finally determined, but there probably will be no opposition to fixing the amounts by arbitration, it was said today.

Arbitration, however, could cover only the extent of damages, and not the question of the principle that unarmed merchant ships must not be sunk without warning and opportunity for the escape of non-combatants.

Columbus, Sept. 3.—At the luncheon given by the Republican state central committee to party workers, every speaker predicted that the next president would be a Republican and an Ohioan. All booms were suppressed. Governor Willis at the state fair grounds came out in defense of primaries, which have been attacked by Senator Harding and Former Chairman Harry M. Daugherty, but at the luncheon an incidental remark by Daugherty that he was not partial to primaries was the only allusion to this difference of opinion among party leaders. Of 350 guests that attended the luncheon 300 were members of county committees. The speakers were Senator Harding, Governor Willis, Harry Daugherty, State Chairman Jones, General Charles Dick, Ralph D. Cole and Judge D. D. Woodmansee.

TO begin with, a distinctive fabric—then a shears to cut it to your figure, a needle to sew it carefully, a tailor's "goose" to smooth it out.

That is the prescription for a well dressed man—and sewing machines, cutting knives and pressing machines fail as "substitutes" always do.

Continental Tailored to Measure

New Diplomacy Wins

The American diplomacy, the diplomacy of President Wilson, an appeal to reason and sense of justice, has won a signal triumph.

The message which Count von Bernstorff, ambassador to the United States from Germany, delivered to Secretary of State Lansing on Tuesday dispelled the last basis for the fear that diplomatic relations between this country and Germany would be severed, and marked the passing of a crisis which has, for weeks, given the people of the United States grave concern.

The position assumed by this government in the first note to Germany, following the sinking of the Lusitania, and insisting upon a recognition of the right of American citizens to travel the high seas without danger has been acknowledged to be correct and the German government has solemnly promised to sink no more passenger carrying vessels without warning and an opportunity for the passengers to save themselves.

The most gratifying and the most hopeful feature in connection with the conclusion of a most remarkable diplomatic struggle is that the sweeping victory was won without resort to force and with an entire absence of any threat to resort to force.

It is a signal victory for the advocates of peace and a decided setback for those who contend that an appeal to reason is useless when a real cause of difference arises.

The justice of the position assumed by the United States admitted of no dispute, yet Germany's open and frank acknowledgement of that fact would likely have been refused if force, or threat to use force, had been resorted to at the first clash between the two countries.

Those who attempted to justify the sinking of the Lusitania, as well as those who objected to the firmness with which President Wilson pressed his claim for recognition of a right acknowledged by international law and guaranteed by every principle of humanity, are compelled to admit the soundness and the wisdom of President Wilson's position.

Right has triumphed over might and reason has compelled recognition when force or threat of force would have failed. Germany cared naught for the blusterer, but the honesty and fairness of the German people could not defend the acts complained of, even when committed in the name of war.

The new school of diplomacy—the diplomacy which appeals to the best and highest in men, the diplomacy which is founded on plain truth and common justice—has had its first trial and the victory won is so wholly satisfactory as to warrant its universal adoption in the future. It marks too, the beginning of the end of the old school of selfishness, trickery and deception backed by force and threats.

National Aid for Farm Work

The farmers of Ohio and Indiana are to be immensely benefitted as a result of the recent allotment of federal government funds which guarantees that the work of giving instructions in agriculture and carrying forward practical demonstrations, in connection with the circulation of publications bearing upon farm work, will be pushed to the point where practical good must result to the people of the states mentioned.

The progress made in the work of compelling the earth to yield to mankind the necessities of life, has not been exceeded by that in any other line of human endeavor.

People who pause long enough to look about them and observe the manner in which the broad acres of farm land are cultivated now days and compare it to the method of a few years ago, are amazed at the change. The farmer these days does his work with much less effort and the earth yields to him a much larger income than it did in the old times and under the old plan.

The one thing more responsible for this progress than any other is the immense experimental and instruction work carried on by the federal and state governments.

The nation and the state spend vast sums in search of information and trying out theories which would be impossible for the individual, which means that but for the activities of state and nation much valuable information would not be accessible to the farmers.

The official announcement that the federal government is to provide the money to push the work in our own and our neighbor state means that the costly experimental work so productive of valuable information is to be given added strength.

Knowledge which means more dollars and less of drudgery to the farmer cannot fail to follow the activities now arranged for by the government. That means benefit to all the residents of the section mentioned.

NATURE'S ANSWER TO AUTUMN.

Autumn called to Nature across the ardent space:
"Give me gold and purple and streaming flags of red,
Blue and bronze to deck me in my day of grace!"
And Nature in a saddened voice to eager Autumn said:

"Gold have I in plenty your maple's heart to fill,
Gold dust have I treasured to crown your goldenrod;
Purple for your larkspur and for your distant hill,
And green to robe your pine trees on the lonely heights of God.

"Bronze wherewith to polish your terraces of leaves,
Bronze for fertile valleys when the harvest carol dies;
Gold and orange in the West with the evening's breeze,
And blue to overspread the arch of far benignant skies.

"Gray to shroud the moaning seas when tide of winter runs,
White to robe the weary earth when Autumn shall have fled.
But my heart is sickened with the death roll of the guns,
Let us leave to Murder its flag of cruel red."

—St. Louis Republic.

Luke McLuke Says

Prayer is all right once in awhile. But the man who puts blisters on his hands gets more than the man who puts blisters on his knees.

Any undertaker will tell you that he would starve if he had to depend on the men who are always yelling that they are working themselves to death. The brunettes are just as light headed as the blonds.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who used to get bed quilts and flannel petticoats for wedding presents?

Anyway, Adam didn't have to sit around at night and listen to Eve nagging that she wished she had some decent clothes to wear like other women.

There isn't enough horsepower in the world to force a woman to do what she will do willingly after a little jollying. About the only men who are living within their incomes are the fellows who are locked in by the guards every night.

You may imagine that the war in Europe is a calamity. But a real calamity is when the mother of five small children in a poor family is so sick that she can't get up and work.

Every now and then you will hear some big mouth yelling about a misstatement made by a newspaper. But if we were all as careful about what we say as the newspapers are there wouldn't be much trouble in the world.

A dollar is a dollar, but somehow or other the dollar that you earn by hard work does you more good than the dollar you regard as easy money.

Father will bring a friend home to dinner with him, and he will meet the dog at the front door, and he will get so busy bragging about the dog that he will forget to introduce mother.

Tell a woman that she is pretty and she will want to kiss you. Tell a man that he is pretty and he will want to kill you.

Once in awhile a man who thinks he is born to command spills his beans by marrying a suffragette.
The man who has ten or eleven hairs on his dome always pities a baldheaded man.

The county fair has very little chance of sizing up to the expositions which are provided now and then. They are relatively insignificant as shows. Yet it is unfair to expect that they be made worth while as exhibitions in the broad sense. The idea of the annual fair is as old as civilization. The literature of the world is full of the romance of the fair, the great gathering of the producing masses for business and social enjoyment. The fair is what the people make it by their support and also by their neglect. If the good and worthy features do not rally the co-operation of the responsible people, then the irresponsible element of society will get in control. If there is more of Coney Island and of circus at the fair than of wholesome rivalry in the matter of exhibits it must be because the people will it so. It is a thing to be proud over to capture a prize which somebody else is striving for. But, after all, the main thing is that the exhibitor, win or lose, has displayed the best specimens of what his soil and his skill will produce. That alone is worth while.

New Diplomacy Wins

The American diplomacy, the diplomacy of President Wilson, an appeal to reason and sense of justice, has won a signal triumph.

The message which Count von Bernstorff, ambassador to the United States from Germany, delivered to Secretary of State Lansing on Tuesday dispelled the last basis for the fear that diplomatic relations between this country and Germany would be severed, and marked the passing of a crisis which has, for weeks, given the people of the United States grave concern.

The position assumed by this government in the first note to Germany, following the sinking of the Lusitania, and insisting upon a recognition of the right of American citizens to travel the high seas without danger has been acknowledged to be correct and the German government has solemnly promised to sink no more passenger carrying vessels without warning and an opportunity for the passengers to save themselves.

The most gratifying and the most hopeful feature in connection with the conclusion of a most remarkable diplomatic struggle is that the sweeping victory was won without resort to force and with an entire absence of any threat to resort to force.

It is a signal victory for the advocates of peace and a decided setback for those who contend that an appeal to reason is useless when a real cause of difference arises.

The justice of the position assumed by the United States admitted of no dispute, yet Germany's open and frank acknowledgement of that fact would likely have been refused if force, or threat to use force, had been resorted to at the first clash between the two countries.

Those who attempted to justify the sinking of the Lusitania, as well as those who objected to the firmness with which President Wilson pressed his claim for recognition of a right acknowledged by international law and guaranteed by every principle of humanity, are compelled to admit the soundness and the wisdom of President Wilson's position.

Right has triumphed over might and reason has compelled recognition when force or threat of force would have failed.

Germany cared naught for the blusterer, but the honesty and fairness of the German people could not defend the acts complained of, even when committed in the name of war.

The new school of diplomacy—the diplomacy which appeals to the best and highest in men, the diplomacy which is founded on plain truth and common justice—has had its first trial and the victory won is so wholly satisfactory as to warrant its universal adoption in the future. It marks too, the beginning of the end of the old school of selfishness, trickery and deception backed by force and threats.

National Aid for Farm Work

The farmers of Ohio and Indiana are to be immensely benefitted as a result of the recent allotment of federal government funds which guarantees that the work of giving instructions in agriculture and carrying forward practical demonstrations, in connection with the circulation of publications bearing upon farm work, will be pushed to the point where practical good must result to the people of the states mentioned.

The progress made in the work of compelling the earth to yield to mankind the necessities of life, has not been exceeded by that in any other line of human endeavor.

People who pause long enough to look about them and observe the manner in which the broad acres of farm land are cultivated now days and compare it to the method of a few years ago, are amazed at the change. The farmer these days does his work with much less effort and the earth yields to him a much larger income than it did in the old times and under the old plan.

The one thing more responsible for this progress than any other is the immense experimental and instruction work carried on by the federal and state governments.

The nation and the state spend vast sums in search of information and trying out theories which would be impossible for the individual, which means that but for the activities of state and nation much valuable information would not be accessible to the farmers.

The official announcement that the federal government is to provide the money to push the work in our own and our neighbor state means that the costly experimental work so productive of valuable information is to be given added strength.

Knowledge which means more dollars and less of drudgery to the farmer cannot fail to follow the activities now arranged for by the government. That means benefit to all the residents of the section mentioned.

NATURE'S ANSWER TO AUTUMN.

Autumn called to Nature across the ardent space:
"Give me gold and purple and streaming flags of red,
Blue and bronze to deck me in my day of grace!"
And Nature in a saddened voice to eager Autumn said:

"Gold have I in plenty your maple's heart to fill,
Gold dust have I treasured to crown your goldenrod;
Purple for your larkspur and for your distant hill,
And green to robe your pine trees on the lonely heights of God.

"Bronze wherewith to polish your terraces of leaves,
Bronze for fertile valleys when the harvest carol dies;
Gold and orange in the West with the evening's breeze,
And blue to overspread the arch of far benignant skies.

"Gray to shroud the moaning seas when tide of winter runs,
White to robe the weary earth when Autumn shall have fled,
But my heart is sickened with the death roll of the guns,
Let us leave to Murder its flag of cruel red."

What has become of the old fashioned girl who used to get bed quilts and flannel petticoats for wedding presents?

The county fair has very little chance of sizing up to the expositions which are provided now and then. They are relatively insignificant as shows. Yet it is unfair to expect that they be made worth while as exhibitions in the broad sense. The idea of the annual fair is as old as civilization. The literature of the world is full of the romance of the fair, the great gathering of the producing masses for business and social enjoyment. The fair is what the people make it by their support and also by their neglect. If the good and worthy features do not rally the co-operation of the responsible people, then the irresponsible element of society will get in control. If there is more of Coney Island and of circus at the fair than of wholesome rivalry in the matter of exhibits it must be because the people will it so. It is a thing to be proud over to capture a prize which somebody else is striving for. But, after all, the main thing is that the exhibitor, win or lose, has displayed the best specimens of what his soil and his skill will produce. That alone is worth while.

RULING MAY BE ASKED ON ACTION OF COUNTY BOARD

Contention Arises as to Whether or Not Present County Board of School Examiners Can Legally Issue Certificates Owing to Fact Two Teachers and No District Superintendent Are Appointee Members.

The recent appointment of C. L. Anders as member of the County Board of School Examiners, to succeed himself, has raised a question which is being discussed extensively at the present time, some holding that the board exceeded its authority and that the appointment is not legal, and others contending that the appointment complies with Section 7811 of the Ohio Laws.

Those contending that the appointment was not in accordance with the authority vested in the county school board claim that, as they understand the law, any teachers' certificate issued by the board of county examiners as it now stands will be illegal, and for this reason teachers in the county will take considerable interest in the matter until it is definitely settled one way or the other.

The section authorizing the appointment of two members of a county board of school examiners reads as follows:

"Section 7811. There shall be a county board of school examiners for each county, consisting of the county superintendent, one district superintendent and one other competent teacher, the latter two to be appointed by the county board of education. The teacher so appointed must have had at least two years' experience as teacher or superintendent, and be a teacher or supervisor in the public schools of the county school district or of an exempted village school district. Should he remove from the county during his term, his office thereby shall be vacated and his successor appointed."

Inquiry from members of the board of education who voted for the appointment of Mr. Anders elicited the information that the board's action was based on the theory that Mr. Bryce Bell, being a hold-over under the appointment of the probate judge did not make it compulsory for the board to name a District Superintendent as a member of the board at the present time, and that next year, when the term of Mr. Bell expires the board can then name a District Superintendent and that the proceedings of this year and next come within the legal authority of the board, as in that way the board will have complied, it is claimed, with the law requiring that the board shall be composed of the County Superintendent, a District Superintendent and a teacher with certain qualifications.

As the board now stands it does not include a District Superintendent, but in addition to Supt. Nelson has two teachers and no District Superintendent.

It is understood a ruling from the proper state officials will be obtained on the action of the board of education and the matter of whether or not the board of examiners, as it stands, can legally issue certificates.

HAMS OF WESTPHALIA.

Processes by Which They Are Cured and Flavored.

The famous Westphalian hams, which are eaten without cooking, are cured by an elaborate process that has been worked out patiently and skillfully by generations of expert workmen. A writer in the New York Sun thus describes the process:

After being rubbed thoroughly with a solution in which there are 100 pounds of salt to one pound of saltpeter, the hams are placed on cement floors, or in vats, and thickly strewn with salt. They lie under salt for two weeks and then pass to a vat that contains a 22 per cent solution of brine. They remain in that solution for eighteen days. Every day they are shifted in the vat; the hams on the bottom are brought to the top, and vice versa. At the end of the eighteen days the hams are packed, one upon another, in a cool, dry cellar, where they remain for four weeks, in order to ripen—that is, to take on color and become tender. Then the salt is washed off with a stiff brush dipped in lukewarm water, and the hams are put to soak for twelve hours in fresh water. After that they are ready for the smoke-house.

The smokehouses are two or three stories high, with holes bored in the flooring. The fires are kindled on the ground floor, and the meat is hung on the second and third floors. The fires are made entirely of beech wood, but the workmen constantly throw juniper berries and juniper twigs on the embers. The fire burns brightly. It is checked with beech wood sawdust whenever it burns too briskly.

The smoking continues for about eight days. Under the ancient curing methods, however, the hams were often kept in the smoke rooms for six weeks, and it is by this latter method that the best hams are still made by the country folk of Westphalia.

WHAT A MAN READS.

It is a Big Factor in Determining His Course of Life.

A certain low form of aquatic animal life anchors itself to a rock and feeds on whatever the current brings. The average man feeds his mind in much the same way. He falls into line for current amusements. He reads only current literature. He listens to what happens to go by. He makes but little systematic attempt to shut out the unfit or to put himself in line for the fit.

The result is a defective grade of human life that rarely elevates society and often degrades it. If a man would make the most of himself, and that is manifestly the supreme purpose for which he was put into the world, it is worth his while to do his daily work where unclean things, mental and physical, are not made common.

It makes a good deal of difference in the worth of the man today as to whether his reading last night was "Hamlet" and "Isaiah" or "The Other Man's Wife," whether he went to the art institute or the burlesque show. An ancient teacher of well balanced mind gave this direction to his disciples as to the topics to be selected for deliberate thought:

"Finally, my brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

To think on these things one must see and hear these things. To see and hear these things one must make an effort to do so.—Minneapolis Journal.

The terms tenpenny, etc., as applied to nails came from the number in a pound, pronounced pun. Nails of such a size that it took 1,000 of them to weigh four, six, eight or ten pounds were popularly known as four pun nails, six pun nails, eight pun nails and ten pun nails, respectively, and in the course of time four pun nails, six pun nails, etc., were gradually corrupted to the meaningless fourpenny nails, sixpenny nails, etc.—Indianapolis News.

"KING OF BOOTLEGGERS" DRAWS $200 AND COSTS

James Duckwall, Captured With More Than 200 Pint Bottles of Whisky in His Possession, Enters Plea of Guilty and Draws Heavy Fine—Pays $150 and Must Pay Remainder—Some Uneasiness Caused by Arrest

James Duckwall, the man arrested Monday night with more than 200 pint bottles of whiskey in his possession, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of "keeping a wagon" when he faced Mayor Coffey, Friday morning, and was promptly fined $200 and the costs and informed that if he ever faced the court on a similar charge he would draw the limit.

Duckwall was required to pay $150 in cool, hard cash, and the costs and was given a limited time in which to pay the remaining $50. He was represented by Attorney J. D. Post.

When Duckwall realized the jig was up he decided not to fight the charges, but accepted the fine imposed without protest, and paid as above stated. In addition to his heavy fine, Duckwall loses his entire stock of liquor—the largest supply confiscated from one man under the present administration, and for this reason his arrest is regarded as one of the most important of its kind made during the past few years.

Duckwall's arrest occurred when the police received a tip that the man had purchased a heavy supply of liquor in Chillicothe and was on his way to this city with the goods. The police laid in wait and arrested Duckwall as he was discharging his cargo of wet goods at his premises on South Hinde street. The man had six cases each containing 36 pint bottles of whiskey, it was announced, and this was confiscated and is in the hands of Mayor Coffey.

When Duckwall was arrested it is understood that quite a few persons who were close friends of Duckwall or knew him in a "business" manner, were somewhat uneasy, and from the beginning it was thought the man would not fight the case.

To Mayor Coffey Duckwall is alleged to have stated that the recent shipment was the largest he had ever hauled from Chillicothe to this city and that he admitted he had hauled intoxicants into this city for years, acting, it is claimed, as agent for numerous persons in this city who ordered the intoxicants and paid him the money for the goods, which he purchased and delivered to them.

He was informed by Mayor Coffey that in the future he would be kept under surveillance and if he again insisted upon becoming the medium through which certain local citizens obtain their whiskey, he would be dealt with accordingly, and without gloves on.

CLAIM SWEEPER IS MORE ECONOMICAL

Mayor Coffey is in receipt of a communication from The Baker Mfg. Company, of Springfield, Ill., stating that the "Baker Dustless Pick-Up Sweeper" is much more economical than a flusher for keeping the streets clean.

Statistics are submitted by the company and copies of alleged newspaper clippings enclosed praise the sweeper advertised.

At an early session of council steps will be taken to obtain either a sweeper or flusher in order that life may be more bearable to residents of paved streets.

RULING MAY BE ASKED ON ACTION OF COUNTY BOARD

Contention Arises as to Whether or Not Present County Board of School Examiners Can Legally Issue Certificates Owing to Fact Two Teachers and No District Superintendent Are Appointee Members.

The recent appointment of C. L. Anders as member of the County Board of School Examiners, to succeed himself, has raised a question which is being discussed extensively at the present time, some holding that the board exceeded its authority and that the appointment is not legal, and others contending that the appointment complies with Section 7811 of the Ohio Laws.

Those contending that the appointment was not in accordance with the authority vested in the county school board claim that, as they understand the law, any teachers' certificate issued by the board of county examiners as it now stands will be illegal, and for this reason teachers in the county will take considerable interest in the matter until it is definitely settled one way or the other.

The section authorizing the appointment of two members of a county board of school examiners reads as follows:

"Section 7811. There shall be a county board of school examiners for each county, consisting of the county superintendent, one district superintendent and one other competent teacher, the latter two to be appointed by the county board of education. The teacher so appointed must have had at least two years' experience as teacher or superintendent, and be a teacher or supervisor in the public schools of the county school district or of an exempted village school district. Should he remove from the county during his term, his office thereby shall be vacated and his successor appointed."

Inquiry from members of the board of education who voted for the appointment of Mr. Anders elicited the information that the board's action was based on the theory that Mr. Bryce Bell, being a hold-over under the appointment of the probate judge did not make it compulsory for the board to name a District Superintendent as a member of the board at the present time, and that next year, when the term of Mr. Bell expires the board can then name a District Superintendent and that the proceedings of this year and next come within the legal authority of the board, as in that way the board will have complied, it is claimed, with the law requiring that the board shall be composed of the County Superintendent, a District Superintendent and a teacher with certain qualifications.

As the board now stands it does not include a District Superintendent, but in addition to Supt. Nelson has two teachers and no District Superintendent.

It is understood a ruling from the proper state officials will be obtained on the action of the board of education and the matter of whether or not the board of examiners, as it stands, can legally issue certificates.

NEW PHONES WILL BE READY IN OCTOBER

The new automatic telephones of the Ohio State Telephone Company will be ready for use by the middle of October, it is announced, unless some unforeseen difficulty occurs in installing the exchange equipment.

The work has been exceedingly slow owing to the complex nature of the work, and while a number of experts have been working over time installing the central fixtures and equipment, it will be some little time before the work of installing the telephones is taken up and completed.

October 1st to 15th is the time set for completing the work and switching over to the new automatic.

HAMS OF WESTPHALIA

Processes by Which They Are Cured and Flavored.

The famous Westphalian hams, which are eaten without cooking, are cured by an elaborate process that has been worked out patiently and skillfully by generations of expert workmen. A writer in the New York Sun thus describes the process:

After being rubbed thoroughly with a solution in which there are 100 pounds of salt to one pound of saltpeter, the hams are placed on cement floors, or in vats, and thickly strewn with salt. They lie under salt for two weeks and then pass to a vat that contains a 22 per cent solution of brine. They remain in that solution for eighteen days. Every day they are shifted in the vat; the hams on the bottom are brought to the top, and vice versa. At the end of the eighteen days the hams are packed, one upon another, in a cool, dry cellar, where they remain for four weeks, in order to ripen—that is, to take on color and become tender. Then the salt is washed off with a stiff brush dipped in lukewarm water, and the hams are put to soak for twelve hours in fresh water. After that they are ready for the smoke-house.

The smokehouses are two or three stories high, with holes bored in the flooring. The fires are kindled on the ground floor, and the meat is hung on the second and third floors. The fires are made entirely of beech wood, but the workmen constantly throw juniper berries and juniper twigs on the embers. The fire burns brightly. It is checked with beech wood sawdust whenever it burns too briskly. The smoking continues for about eight days. Under the ancient curing methods, however, the hams were often kept in the smoke rooms for six weeks, and it is by this latter method that the best hams are still made by the country folk of Westphalia.

WHAT A MAN READS.

It is a Big Factor in Determining His Course of Life.

A certain low form of aquatic animal life anchors itself to a rock and feeds on whatever the current brings. The average man feeds his mind in much the same way. He falls into line for current amusements. He reads only current literature. He listens to what happens to go by. He makes but little systematic attempt to shut out the unfit or to put himself in line for the fit.

The result is a defective grade of human life that rarely elevates society and often degrades it. If a man would make the most of himself, and that is manifestly the supreme purpose for which he was put into the world, it is worth his while to do his daily work where unclean things, mental and physical, are not made common.

It makes a good deal of difference in the worth of the man today as to whether his reading last night was "Hamlet" and "Isalah" or "The Other Man's Wife," whether he went to the art institute or the burlesque show. An ancient teacher of well balanced mind gave this direction to his disciples as to the topics to be selected for deliberate thought:

"Finally, my brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

To think on these things one must see and hear these things. To see and hear these things one must make an effort to do so.—Minneapolis Journal.

What "Penny" of Nails Mean.

The terms tenpenny, etc., as applied to nails came from the number in a pound, pronounced pun. Nails of such a size that it took 1,000 of them to weigh four, six, eight or ten pounds were popularly known as four pun nails, six pun nails, eight pun nails and ten pun nails, respectively, and in the course of time four pun nails, six pun nails, etc., were gradually corrupted to the meaningless fourpenny nails, sixpenny nails, etc.—Indianapolis News.

"KING OF BOOTLEGGERS" DRAWS $200 AND COSTS

James Duckwall, Captured With More Than 200 Pint Bottles of Whisky in His Possession, Enters Plea of Guilty and Draws Heavy Fine—Pays $150 and Must Pay Remainder—Some Uneasiness Caused by Arrest

James Duckwall, the man arrested Monday night with more than 200 pint bottles of whiskey in his possession, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of "keeping a wagon" when he faced Mayor Coffey, Friday morning, and was promptly fined $200 and the costs and informed that if he ever faced the court on a similar charge he would draw the limit.

Duckwall was required to pay $150 in cool, hard cash, and the costs and was given a limited time in which to pay the remaining $50. He was represented by Attorney J. D. Post.

When Duckwall realized the jig was up he decided not to fight the charges, but accepted the fine imposed without protest, and paid as above stated. In addition to his heavy fine, Duckwall loses his entire stock of liquor—the largest supply confiscated from one man under the present administration, and for this reason his arrest is regarded as one of the most important of its kind made during the past few years.

Duckwall's arrest occurred when the police received a tip that the man had purchased a heavy supply of liquor in Chillicothe and was on his way to this city with the goods. The police laid in wait and arrested Duckwall as he was discharging his cargo of wet goods at his premises on South Hinde street. The man had six cases each containing 36 pint bottles of whiskey, it was announced, and this was confiscated and is in the hands of Mayor Coffey.

CARE OF GOOD CLOTHES.

The Finer the Stuff the More Watchful One Should Be.

It is a very common mistake to believe that good materials, whether of cotton, silk or wool, need less care than cheap ones. How often does one complain of the lack of wearing quality in a garment for which a big price has been paid. Yet, most frequently, what has worn out the fabric has not been actual use, but the neglect it has suffered.

One of the principal differences between good and cheap materials is that the better grades are finer spun. This may mean that the fabric is stronger, and in proportion to the uses to which it is put, may wear longer, but it also means that each tiny thread by itself is weaker and more apt to injury. Anything which may attack the threads one by one, therefore, does more harm with fine goods than with coarse.

No matter how careful one may try to be, clothes that one wears gradually get a trifle of the grease from the perspiration of the body. In spite of constant washing clothes will become dusty. This combination of dust and body moisture forms a regular breeding ground for tiny little vegetable growths. These are so small that it takes the most powerful microscope even to see them.

In themselves these bacteria do but little harm, but many of them set free an acid which eats into the fiber of the material. If the individual fiber is coarse the deposit of the acid upon it is not enough to eat all the way through, but if it is sheer or woven of fine threads one by one the threads are eaten through and the texture weakened.

Good clothing, instead of being kept shut away in boxes and drawers, should be constantly aired and shaken. The finer the material the more often should it be looked after. A coarse piece of goods will wear out by using, a fine piece by being laid away.—New York American.

Leakage in Steam Pipes.
To make a permanent cement for stopping leakage in steam pipes where caulking or plugging is impossible, mix black oxide of manganese and raw linseed oil, using enough oil with the manganese to bring it to a thick paste. Apply to the pipe or joint at leak. If the pipe be kept sufficiently warm to absorb the oil from the manganese, in twenty-four hours the cement will be as hard as the iron pipe.

He was picked up unconscious and medical aid summoned. Later he was removed to his home.

CARE OF GOOD CLOTHES.

The Finer the Stuff the More Watchful One Should Be.

It is a very common mistake to believe that good materials, whether of cotton, silk or wool, need less care than cheap ones. How often does one complain of the lack of wearing quality in a garment for which a big price has been paid. Yet, most frequently, what has worn out the fabric has not been actual use, but the neglect it has suffered.

One of the principal differences between good and cheap materials is that the better grades are finer spun. This may mean that the fabric is stronger, and, in proportion to the uses to which it is put, may wear longer, but it also means that each tiny thread by itself is weaker and more apt to injury. Anything which may attack the threads one by one, therefore, does more harm with fine goods than with coarse.

No matter how careful one may try to be, clothes that one wears gradually get a trifle of the grease from the perspiration of the body. In spite of constant washing clothes will become dusty. This combination of dust and body moisture forms a regular breeding ground for tiny little vegetable growths. These are so small that it takes the most powerful microscope even to see them.

In themselves these bacteria do but little harm, but many of them set free an acid which eats into the fiber of the material. If the individual fiber is coarse the deposit of the acid upon it is not enough to eat all the way through, but if it is sheer or woven of fine threads one by one the threads are eaten through and the texture weakened.

Good clothing, instead of being kept shut away in boxes and drawers, should be constantly aired and shaken. The finer the material the more often should it be looked after. A coarse piece of goods will wear out by using, a fine piece by being laid away.—New York American.

Leakage in Steam Pipes.

To make a permanent cement for stopping leakage in steam pipes where caulking or plugging is impossible, mix black oxide of manganese and raw linseed oil, using enough oil with the manganese to bring it to a thick paste. Apply to the pipe or joint at leak. If the pipe be kept sufficiently warm to absorb the oil from the manganese, in twenty four hours the cement will be as hard as the iron pipe.

Wilson On National Defense Development.

TWO LETTERS MADE PUBLIC

They Embody the President's Only Commitments on the Subject and Bind Him Only to a "Reasonable and Adequate" Policy—Substance of Notes Addressed to Secretaries Daniels and Garrison.

Washington, Sept. 3.—With the view of correcting the growing impression that he has committed the administration to a more definite program of national defense development than is actually contemplated, President Wilson made public the letters which he wrote to Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Secretary of War Garrison on July 21, asking them to set about the preparation of their reports on the needs of the two services. Emphasis was laid by the administration officials on the fact that these letters embody the president's only commitments on the subject of national defense and that they bind him only to a "reasonable and adequate" policy.

In the letter to Secretary Daniels the president asks the best minds of the navy be consulted, some with due regard to the present day conditions, that a program be formulated which will place the United States navy "upon an equality with the most efficient. Whether we can reasonably propose the whole of it (the navy's program) to the congress or not we can determine when we have studied it," he stipulated.

The president in the other letter refers to his knowledge of the fact that Secretary Garrison has very definite ideas as to the needs of the army, and asks that a program with estimates be prepared quickly as possible. The only tangible statement in the letter to the secretary of war is the admission of the need for "a proper training of our citizens to arms."

Both letters emphasize the president's desire to take up the reports of the two secretaries at the earliest possible moment. It is regarded as significant, however, that neither of the contemplated conferences has taken place, although more than a month has passed since the two letters were sent from the White House.

some talk of an advance on Kiev, the distance to that city is considerable.

On the western front the Germans claim to have recovered trenches which they lost in the middle of August in the Vosges, while the French simply refer to the heavy artillery engagements, which have been the feature of the last nine days, with no suggestion of what they foreshadow.

Increased activity at the Dardanelles is shown in all the official reports. Besides their success in capturing an important position east of Suvla bay, which dominates one of the Turkish lines of communication, the allies have sunk four more Turkish transports in the straits; while the fire of the ships across Gallipoli peninsula has made the movement of Turkish troops by either land or sea more difficult.

A dispatch from Rome says that the Austrians have evacuated Rovereto, which recent Italian advances had threatened to cut off. An official report from the same capital claims a number of successes for the artillery and infantry on different fronts.

VILNA THE NEXT OBJECTIVE

Vienna Reports Series of Successes in the Southwestern Zone, the Russians Virtually Being Driven Out of Galicia—Allies Sink Four Turkish Transports in Dardanelles—French Lose Trenches in the West.

London, Sept. 3.—The Austro-German offensive is again making headway, and as they have been doing for four months, the Russian troops have resumed their withdrawal movement.

The western forts of Grodno were evacuated after two of them were destroyed by the heavy guns and stormed by the German infantry, and it is considered extremely likely that the whole fortress has already been left to its fate, for it was no longer tenable after the Germans had crossed the Grodno-Vilna railway. Vilna, doubtless, will be the next objective of the Austro-Germans on this front.

In the southeast, Vienna also reports a series of successes, which have virtually driven the Russians out of Galicia; they now hold only a very narrow strip between the Zerth river and Bessarabia. Across the border in the latter province, the Austrians state, the Russians set fire to a number of villages, which might indicate a further retreat. Thus the hopes raised in the allied countries by recent successes that Russia at least was making a stand, have been dissipated.

Everywhere, except in the region of Riga, the Austro-Germans claim to be advancing, but it is believed they have not captured of late any great number of men or guns. There is

WILSON RECEIVES POPE'S MESSAGE

Washington, Sept. 3.—Cardinal Gibbons handed to President Wilson a communication from Pope Benedict on the subject of peace in Europe and discussed with both the president and Secretary Lansing the possibilities of bringing about a termination of the war.

Though Cardinal Gibbons sounded a note of optimism in discussing his talk with the president and the prospect for a restoration of peace in the near future, there is apparently little if any likelihood of the United States taking a step in this direction until conditions in Europe have materially changed.

The reception given to the pope's message and its bearer was most cordial, and the prelate was heartily assured by both President Wilson and Secretary Lansing of the desire of this government to do whatever it feels it can do to expedite peace in Europe; nevertheless, the fact remains that there is no present indication that the conference with the cardinal will have any immediate effect, so far as the United States government is concerned.

The statement was made that the cardinal said nothing which would afford a basis for any inference that the pope has acted at the instance of Germany or Austria. The pope's message was more of a general than particular character, and it was more suggestive and informative than otherwise.

The manner in which Germany is now openly expressing her willingness to discuss peace is regarded here as one of the most interesting developments in the war situation. In view of the attitude of the allies, however, and the decision of the Washington government to make no representations to them the acceptability of which is not assured in advance, the belief has been established here that for the present at least Germany's receptive attitude will bring no results of a concrete character.

Attitude of Belligerents. The non-German way of expressing the same thing is that German armies have won and now hold practically all that they will be able to get or find it safe to retain; that they are at the high tide of success. It is admitted on behalf of Germany that territory she has gained places her in a better position to make terms than she may be in later.

It is stated in Germany's behalf that even if another year of war should bring further victories for German armies the cost would be greater than could be compensated by anything gained. Germany feels that, with the most valuable section of France, with all of Belgium, all of Galicia, practically all of Poland and a large slice of Russian territory in her possession, she has the territory with which to make a trade with the allies favorable to herself.

According to these flat statements of Germany's attitude she would be willing to give up all of France that she holds, all of Belgium, restoring the original status quo in the west. Germany would demand in the east the creation of an independent kingdom of Poland, possibly adding to it German Poland and possibly an independent Finland, if present successes against Russia are continued, and for Austria the assurances of a dominating position in the Balkans.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—According to Count Von Bernstorff's instructions, Germany offers to submit the claims for compensation arising out of the Lusitania and Arabic cases to The Hague for adjudication.

It is reported that Admiral Von Tirpitz, the German minister of marine, will resign and will be succeeded by Admiral Von Pohl, now chief of the admiralty staff and commander of the German battle fleet.

The German ambassador at Washington is in possession of fairly wide reaching authority to negotiate for a settlement of the submarine question and it is believed that the proposals he is authorized to make will strike at the heart of the problem as affecting the United States. They provide for immunity from attack without warning for passenger steamers, which are to be destroyed only after being halted and full opportunity has been given that trade passengers and crew to embark in the boats, under conditions of safety.

ATTACK ON ARABIC IS DESCRIBED

New York, Sept. 3.—Forty-five survivors of the White Star liner Arabic, which was torpedoed on Aug. 19, arrived in this city on the steamer Adriatic of the same company and the American liner St. Paul. All united in affirming the statements that the Arabic was sunk without warning and that the submarine used as a decoy another vessel, the Dunsley, which was sinking at the time from a previous attack.

The survivors say that when the Arabic discovered the Dunsley, which was a freighter loaded with horses and mules, sinking some distance off, Captain Finch made for her in the hope of saving the crew. The Dunsley's men waived to them warning them not to come near, but they did not understand until within a half mile of the ship, when the officers realized that the German submarine must be in the neighborhood. Before the Arabic could change her course to escape the torpedo struck her, having been fired from the ambush of the Dunsley.

Mexico City, Sept. 3.—Thirty-three trains have arrived here from Vera Cruz bearing the members of the Constitutional government and their assistants, with the exception of the staff of the war office and General Carranza and his aids. Several trains were required for the furniture and the archives of the government.

A daily schedule of both freight and passenger trains has been arranged between this city and Zacatecas. It is the intention of the Constitutionalist authorities to run cattle trains here from Huantepec in order to bring a supply of fresh beef, which will be sold at a low rate to the public.

SHOCKS WIFE AT RECEPTION

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3.—While his wife was attending a reception given in honor of Vice President Thomas A. Marshall here, Dr. Robert M. Bryan, prominent veterinarian, fired a bullet into his brain and died a short time later. Dr. Bryan was associated in business with Dr. W. F. Hoover, who is a cousin of the vice president, and Mrs. Bryan was assisting in receiving at Dr. Hoover's home.

Drive This Car Yourself!

Arrange for a Labor Day Demonstration and Take the Ladies of Your Family Along

The Chalmers Six-40 seven-passenger touring car has the wonderful valve-in-head motor with overhead camshaft which is taking the public by storm just as the same type of motor swept everything before it at this year's speedway races.

The Labor Day holiday offers you the opportunity to drive this car yourself.

Arrange with us for demonstration on that day and take the ladies of your family along.

After all, they are the real judges of style, beauty and comfort in a motor car and will be interested in its artistic "coach" finish, aristocratic fenders and smart wheels.

You're the best judge of its mechanical features.

Step on the Accelerator

Notice the "trigger quick" response.

Feel the thrill as it leaps away with the strength of its 20% more power.

You will realize that you have a real power plant at your command.

Listen to the Motor

It has a healthy purr.

When you get behind the wheel of this car you experience a sensation of having surplus power.

You will gain a genuine affection for both the sound and feel of this motor.

There is nothing like it in any other American stock car.

Ask the Ladies About Comfort

We believe that this is the easiest riding motor car ever built but we are willing to abide by the decision of the ladies after they sit in it, or better still, ride in it.

We already have many demonstrations booked ahead. See us today or telephone for a demonstration appointment.

Then you will understand why the Chalmers Company shipped more cars in July and August than in any two previous months in its history.

New Service to Owners

Every Chalmers dealer now gives to every buyer of a Chalmers car a Service Coupon Book, each coupon redeemable for a definite amount of service at any Chalmers dealer.

The only comparisons ever made with Chalmers cars are made with higher priced cars—either foreign or American. And this is especially true of the Chalmers Six-40 at $1350—the lowest price at which Chalmers Quality has ever been sold.

The Chalmers Club

Every Chalmers owner is invited to join the Chalmers Club. Every member receives regularly without charge "The Chalmers Clubman" and a membership card commending the owner to the courtesy of Chalmers representatives everywhere.

TO SUBMIT CLAIMS TO THE HAGUE

Berlin, Sept. 3.—According to Count Von Bernstorff's instructions, Germany offers to submit the claims for compensation arising out of the Lusitania and Arabic cases to The Hague for adjudication.

It is reported that Admiral Von Tirpitz, the German minister of marine, will resign and will be succeeded by Admiral Von Pohl, now chief of the admiralty staff and commander of the German battle fleet.

The German ambassador at Washington is in possession of fairly wide reaching authority to negotiate for a settlement of the submarine question and it is believed that the proposals he is authorized to make will strike at the heart of the problem as affecting the United States. They provide for immunity from attack without warning for passenger steamers, which are to be destroyed only after being halted and full opportunity has been given that trade passengers and crew to embark in the boats, under conditions of safety.

GREECE YIELDS

Rome, Sept. 3.—The outlook in the Balkans appears to be more hopeful for the allies owing to Greece's decision not to oppose Serbia's eventual territorial concessions to Bulgaria, even if these concessions existed beyond the right bank of the Vardar river, provided, however, that Serbia retains the regions of Douan and Gheoghelt.

10 PATRIOTS AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Sept. 3.—At the expiration of the time limit for filing, last night, all the mayoralty aspirants under the new charter had filed petitions. Columbus voters will make choice among ten candidates for mayor, six Republicans and four Democrats. The candidates are: George J. Karb, Fred J. Heer, Albert E. Sartain, Fred C. Neff, Charles T. Warner, Howard C. Park, Charles E. Carter, D. W. Collison, Christopher Ross, Florizel Smith.

REED ASSAILS MR. ROOSEVELT

Platt City, Mo., Sept. 3.—Senator James A. Reed, before a great throng, attacked ex-President Roosevelt. "No thoughtful man in this country believes that Roosevelt really desires to plunge America into a great international conflict," Reed said. "What he does seek to do is to pose as a national hero and substitute bragado for valor. This is all very natural. It is an attribute frequently manifested, not only in man, but in animals."

NO INDICTMENT IN FRANK CASE

Marietta, Ga., Sept. 3.—The Cobb county grand jury reported that it had been unable to find enough evidence after a two days' examination of witnesses to indict anyone for the lynching of Leo M. Frank.

SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Can get their tablets, pencils, etc., at Rodecker's News Stand, in the postoffice lobby.

SCHOOLS MAY BAR CHILDREN.

Common colds are contagious and boards of health in many cities are considering barring children with colds from school. Foley's Honey and Tar is an old and reliable family medicine and frees children from coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Parents may save trouble by giving before school opens. Four Battles With Troops Fought In Different Sections.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 3.—Border reports indicate that fully 2,500 armed Mexicans are now operating on Texas soil. Four battles in different sections failed to decide the issue. Swarms of Mexicans have been seen at many places along the Rio Grande, but floods prevented their crossing.

A fierce battle between a detachment of the Third cavalry and some fifty bandits took place fifteen miles north of Brownsville. This fight lasted several hours, during which three troops were wounded and one killed. Reports are that twenty Mexican were killed in the fight and several were wounded. Another battle took place ten miles from Harlingen. Rangers and soldiers were fired upon from the brush. One soldier was wounded. The Mexicans made their escape. More fighting was reported in the Big Bend country, where Orozco was killed, and a skirmish was had north of Del Rio. Reports are that in these running fights some bandits were killed, but no Americans were lost. From many of the smaller towns, some forty miles inland, reports come that bands of Mexicans, heavily armed had been seen.

ROBBERS MAKE

AWFUL MISTAKE

Newark, N. J., Sept. 3.—Four young women who have been making a tour of the state for suffrage reached here with a tale of an encounter with highwaymen, in which the robbers came out second best. Not the least interesting feature of the narrative was the fact that the robbers had to listen to three suffrage speeches before they were permitted to slink away, empty handed, but convinced that this "votes for women" has a punch to it.

The allies are learning that preparedness for war means something more than men, ships and money. England and Russia have more soldiers than they have arms and ammunition to equip them for battle. If they rob the ranks to man the factories it will soon be the other way, which is a worse predicament.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 3.—Four young women who have been making a tour of the state for suffrage reached here with a tale of an encounter with highwaymen, in which the robbers came out second best. Not the least interesting feature of the narrative was the fact that the robbers had to listen to three suffrage speeches before they were permitted to slink away, empty handed, but convinced that this "votes for women" has a punch to it.

The allies are learning that preparedness for war means something more than men, ships and money. England and Russia have more soldiers than they have arms and ammunition to equip them for battle. If they rob the ranks to man the factories it will soon be the other way, which is a worse predicament.

If you suffer defeat in front of a great town and have to retreat through it under the blows of the victorious enemy you are in the worst possible position for conducting that retreat. You will probably abandon documents which the enemy should not see. You will certainly, in the pressure of such a flight, lose accumulated stores. Again, the transverse streets are so many points of "leakage" into which your congested columns will bulge out and get confused. Again, you will be almost necessarily dealing with the complications of a mass of civilian conditions which should never be allowed to interrupt a military operation.

Perpetual Youth.

The pictures of mermaids are pleasing. A lot of fair sea nymphs you've seen; They always look lissome and teasing And not over sweet seventeen.

The fountain of true youth, by thunder! Must spring from the sea waters cold; We gaze at those pictures and wonder If mermaids never grow old. —Louisville Courier-Herald.

An Unusual Case.

Stranger—Seventeen years ago I landed here in your town broke. I struck you for a dollar. You gave it to me, saying you never turned a request like that down. Citizen (eagerly)—Yes? Stranger—Well, are you still game?—Judge.

Window Boxes.

Before putting earth in window boxes whitewash the inside of the box. This not only keeps a wooden box from rotting, but prevents insects. —McCall's Magazine.

A PEEP INTO SPACE

Can the Finite Mind of Man Measure the Universe?

THE LIMITS OF THE VISIBLE.

Science Says the Bounds of the Stellar System Are Definable and That the Universe is as an Island of Stars in an Infinite Ocean of Ether.

To the visible universe there are attainable limits. It may be that the greatest telescopes have not yet reached the bottom, or the boundaries, of the entire system, but they have almost done so.

This is shown by the thinning out of the fainter stars. These stars, as a whole, are the most distant, and if they were unlimited numerically every increase in the penetrating power of telescopes would bring previously unseen ones into view, in proportionately undiminished numbers.

As a fact, however, there is a rapid falling off in the proportionate numbers at great distances. This is shown by Kapteyn's "law of star density." Taking the "parsec" as the unit of measurement (a parsec is equal to nineteen million million miles), the density of the stars at increasing distances comes out as follows: At 0 distance, 1.00; at 50 parsecs, 0.99; at 135 parsecs, 0.86; at 213 parsecs, 0.67; at 540 parsecs, 0.30; at 850 parsecs, 0.15.

This does not mean that the absolute number of stars decreases with increase of distance, but that the ratio of their number to the volume of space occupied decreases in the proportion shown, so that at a distance of 850 parsecs there are only 15 per cent as many stars as there should be if there had been no falling off in relative density.

Various counts and estimates of the actual numbers included within various limiting distances have been made, and these show that the total number of stars in the visible universe is numerable and probably does not exceed a thousand millions at an outside estimate.

The fact that a fairly definite shape or outline has been found for the visible universe is in itself a proof that it is not unlimited in extent. We are virtually certain that it expands around us in such a manner as to assume roughly the form of a flat, irregular disk, the more distant parts or edges of which lie in the plane of the Milky way. It is thus like a floating island of stars in the ocean of space.

Space itself may be infinite, although what we call the universe is not. As to other universes existing beyond the limits of ours and invisible to us, that is purely a speculation, which appears more or less probable according to the manner in which one's mind approaches it.

But, at any rate, there is no positive evidence of the existence of such outer star systems. From time to time one hears suggestions that this or that nebula is an "outside universe," dimly shining to us from its millions of crowded stars across immeasurable tracts of intervening space. But it is far more probable that no nebula or other object visible in the mightiest telescope is unconnected with the universe to which our sun and our earth belong.

As to the continuance of the Creator's work in forming new suns and new planets, of that there can be no question. This work is, in truth, visibly going on before us in the heavens. There is the utmost variety of ages among the stars, just as there is among the human beings in a crowd. If our lives were lengthened so that a year would be but as a second to us we should see the stars around us disappearing and new ones springing into existence, as we see flowers fading and fresh ones blooming in the garden.

To return for a moment to the question of the infinitude of space, it is well known that the human mind cannot conceive a limit to space, for the instant you attempt to fix or imagine such a limit your imagination flies beyond it. You have got to think of an outside as well as of an inside.

And if you fly to another imagined boundary instantly another outside expanse stretches away before you! It is, then, perfectly legitimate to suppose that, while the visible universe is limited, the invisible universe has no bounds. In comparison with that, all that we see, or can ever see, is, truly, infinitely less than as a grain of sand to a desert or a drop of water to an ocean.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

In general, to fight in front of a great town when the chances are against you is as great an error as to fight in front of a marsh with few causeways. So far as mere topography is concerned, it is a greater error still. From "The Elements of the Great War," by Hilaire Belloc.

Perpetual Youth.

The pictures of mermaids are pleasing. A lot of fair sea nymphs you've seen; They always look lissome and teasing And not over sweet seventeen.

The fountain of true youth, by thunder! Must spring from the sea waters cold; We gaze at those pictures and wonder If mermaids never grow old.

—Louisville Courier-Herald.

An Unusual Case.

Stranger—Seventeen years ago I landed here in your town broke. I struck you for a dollar. You gave it to me, saying you never turned a request like that down. Citizen (eagerly)—Yes? Stranger—Well, are you still game?—Judge.

Window Boxes.

Before putting earth in window boxes whitewash the inside of the box. This not only keeps a wooden box from rotting, but prevents insects. —McCall's Magazine.

A Woman's Right.

"And how long have you voted?" "Twelve years." "And how old are you?" "Twenty-two."—Life.

A PEEP INTO SPACE

Can the Finite Mind of Man Measure the Universe?

THE LIMITS OF THE VISIBLE.

Science Says the Bounds of the Stellar System Are Definable and That the Universe Is as an Island of Stars in an Infinite Ocean of Ether.

To the visible universe there are attainable limits. It may be that the greatest telescopes have not yet reached the bottom, or the boundaries, of the entire system, but they have almost done so.

This is shown by the thinning out of the fainter stars. These stars, as a whole, are the most distant, and if they were unlimited numerically every increase in the penetrating power of telescopes would bring previously unseen ones into view, in proportionately undiminished numbers.

As a fact, however, there is a rapid falling off in the proportionate numbers at great distances. This is shown by Kapteyn's "law of star density." Taking the "parsec" as the unit of measurement (a parsec is equal to nineteen million million miles), the density of the stars at increasing distances comes out as follows: At 0 distance, 1.00; at 50 parsecs, 0.99; at 135 parsecs, 0.86; at 213 parsecs, 0.67; at 540 parsecs, 0.30; at 850 parsecs, 0.15.

This does not mean that the absolute number of stars decreases with increase of distance, but that the ratio of their number to the volume of space occupied decreases in the proportion shown, so that at a distance of 850 parsecs there are only 15 per cent as many stars as there should be if there had been no falling off in relative density.

Various counts and estimates of the actual numbers included within various limiting distances have been made, and these show that the total number of stars in the visible universe is numerable and probably does not exceed a thousand millions at an outside estimate.

The fact that a fairly definite shape or outline has been found for the visible universe is in itself a proof that it is not unlimited in extent. We are virtually certain that it expands around us in such a manner as to assume roughly the form of a flat, irregular disk, the more distant parts or edges of which lie in the plane of the Milky way. It is thus like a floating island of stars in the ocean of space.

Space itself may be infinite, although what we call the universe is not. As to other universes existing beyond the limits of ours and invisible to us, that is purely a speculation, which appears more or less probable according to the manner in which one's mind approaches it.

But, at any rate, there is no positive evidence of the existence of such outer star systems. From time to time one hears suggestions that this or that nebula is an "outside universe," dimly shining to us from its millions of crowded stars across immeasurable tracts of intervening space. But it is far more probable that no nebula or other object visible in the mightiest telescope is unconnected with the universe to which our sun and our earth belong.

As to the continuance of the Creator's work in forming new suns and new planets, of that there can be no question. This work is, in truth, visibly going on before us in the heavens. There is the utmost variety of ages among the stars, just as there is
